STYLE GUIDE

Stylist Steve Cordony (whose spectacular renovation of his country home, Rosedale Farm, is a perennial source of inspiration) has teamed up with Brickworks to take the pain out of big design projects, curating four different palettes to suit your taste.

SNUGGLE SEASON

Nothing's more like a hug in fashion form than a cashmere jumper. Mia Fratino's Nora Raglan is an ethically made, cosy cashmere-merino sweater in super-soft shades – because we could all handle a little comfort right now. Visit miafratino.com

WORDS HANNAH JAMES

sharing the love

What do a blue bud vase, a fresh-scented linen spray, and a smart bento box kit have in common? They all raise money for charity. Australian philanthropist Tina Nettlefold recently launched T.House, a range of homewares, to raise money for three causes close to her heart: Lighthouse Foundation (supporting homeless young people); Eat Up Australia (providing free school lunches to vulnerable children); and the RCD Foundation (funding brain cancer research). WHEELY GREAT

Danish furniture-maker Sika Design has been crafting rattan pieces since 1942 – so it's fair to say they've got the process down to an art. This Romeo trolley works as a mobile bar, bedside table or occasional table. Visit domo.com.au

LUXURIOUS TOUCH

Nurse and lover of linen Victoria Porter lives in Walgett, NSW, with her farmer husband, Joel, and baby daughter, Annabelle. In 2019, she launched Banjo & Co Home, a linen company with tablecloths, napkins, baby swaddles and bed sheets. Visit banjoandcohome.com
